Item 8.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

Comment regarding Huntington Beach Oil Spill

Today, management of CorEnergy Infrastructure Trust, Inc. (the "Company") commented on the oil spill that has been reported offshore near Huntington Beach, California, noting that it occurred on a pipeline not owned by the Company. The Company does not own or operate any offshore platforms or pipelines.

The Company has historically received barrels transported by the affected pipeline, at an average of approximately 4,600 bpd over the past four months, equating to average monthly revenue of approximately $98,000 during that time (including the associated pipeline loss allowance). Currently, this production has been shut in and the timing of its return is uncertain. Regardless of the outcome, we do not expect this event to affect our common dividend outlook, which is subject to board approval.
